CLIMATE CHAMPION AWARD

Climate Champion Award will be presented to a company operating in Taiwan that has taken significant steps to reduce its carbon footprint and acted as a leader in climate action.

The science is clear: if we wish to limit the global temperature rise to 1.5° C, we should be working towards net zero emissions by 2050 at the latest. We are looking for ways in which companies have reduced emissions and actively worked to help our planet reach this goal.

The UK is a global leader in climate action. We wish to also highlight one company in Taiwan that has, similarly, acted as a climate leader over the 2021-2022 period. We are looking for companies that have embedded climate action into all aspects of their business operations. This could be through raising awareness with stakeholders, working with supply chains and partners to reduce their carbon footprint, bringing climate action to the board level, or joining specific climate-related initiatives.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY AWARD

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) has many names (Sustainability, Responsibility, Corporate Communications, etc.) and is an integral part of any corporation. From the early days of philanthropy, CSR has now become an integrated business unit vital to any corporate identity. Employees place great importance on a company's CSR actions in their decision to work for that company. Consumers decide on what products they will buy based on how a company is supporting the community or the world at large. Companies know that attracting the best talent - and retaining that talent - is reliant on their company having not only a great CSR programme but also on how they communicate that programme to the world. CSR is integrated into the mission of a company and is no longer seen as something "other" or additional.

DIVERSITY AWARD

Equality, Diversity, and Inclusion is at the heart of great business. Companies around the world now recognise that it is the rich diversity of a workplace that creates innovation and helps modern companies to thrive. Beyond simply inclusion companies are now very aware that it is in the diversity of ideas and backgrounds that the future of innovation lies. We are aware that across different organisations in Taiwan, some fantastic, innovative work in equality, diversity and inclusion is taking place.

This is aligned to our own aspirations at the Standard Chartered Bank and GSK Taiwan to be organisations recognised as taking a leading role in international approaches to equality, diversity and inclusion.

GREEN ENERGY AWARD

The UK Renewables Committee is a group of UK businesses actively committed to a successful renewable energy sector in Taiwan. As a fundamental pillar of the industry's sustainable development, we recognise the need to support the growth of a skilled and globally competitive domestic supply chain in achieving the Taiwanese Government's ambitions for their Net Zero 2050 strategy.

This award has been developed to recognise a company currently operating in Taiwan's renewable energy sector that has demonstrated an outstanding commitment to achieving this goal and furthering the adoption and understanding of renewables in Taiwan over the past twelve months.

SOCIAL ENTERPRISE AWARD

Social enterprise is a world trend. Social enterprises are a kind of social innovation, and effectively solve social or environmental problems via a sustainable business model. The major purpose of social enterprise is to pursue public interest and solve social problems. It doesn't rely on government grants or donations from the private sector. The development of social enterprise in Taiwan is still in the early stages but is getting wide attention. Creating a suitable social business development environment requires public, enterprise, and government to work together. Only in this way we can encourage social enterprise in continuous innovation and steady growth.

The Social Enterprise Award, open to Taiwan-based social enterprises (company limited or company limited by shares) and under the banner of the British Chamber of Commerce in Taipei Business Awards, will provide a great platform to celebrate and share the achievements and learning from organisations in this important area. This will not only leverage KPMG's professional experience in audit, finance, tax and advisory service, but also involve the professional consulting and incubation program via connecting our clients' network. It can create more business opportunities to carry out the cooperation between social enterprises, profit-organisations and potential investors.
